Hi Oliver Schwab,

Thanks for your report.

In Hunt: Showdown, macro and scripting software are not allowed, as they caused a lot of issues in the past.

You will not be banned, but your game might stop working as intended.

We hope for your understanding, and if you have any other question or feedback we are here for you.

Best Regards,

Blakki73

I am not macroing or scripting, What I am doing does not affect the game or my player at all.
I just want to be sure it won't get me banned. I don't even believe this counts as macroing and/or scripting.

Thank you for your help,
Oliver

Hello Oliver Schwab,

If the software is more simple, and doesn't have features which might trigger a kick from the game, you should not have any problems.

Either way, you will not be banned, but you might receive network errors with specific codes. In such case, just close the application, and try again.

We hope that this helps.

Just to clarify, Taking a screenshot shouldnt interfere with the game, correct?

Thank you for helping me!

Hello Oliver Schwab,

If taking screenshots is all the application does, especially if it's a well known software, there shouldn't be any problems.
